THE WORLD CALENDAR

The "World Calendar" shown below is being advocated for Universal use by the World Calendar Association Inc., 630-5th Avenue, New York 20, N. Y.

In this Improved Calendar:

- Every year is the same.
- The quarters are equal: each quarter has exactly 91 days, 13 weeks or 3 months; the four quarters are identical in form.
- Each month has 26 week days, plus Sundays.
- Each year begins on Sunday, 1 January; each working year begins on Monday, 2 January.
- Each quarter begins on Sunday, ends on Saturday.
- The calendar is stabilized and made perpetual by ending the year with a 365th day following 30 December each year. This additional day is dated "W," which equals 31 December, and called Worldday, a year-end world holiday. Leapyear Day is similarly added at the end of the second quarter. It is likewise dated "W," which equals 31 June, and called Leapyear Day, another world holiday in leap years.

CRASH KILLS JET PILOT

Scarsdale Student Officer Is Victim in Georgia

VALDOSTA, Ga., Sept. 21 (AP)—First Lieut. George N. Burleigh Jr., 24 years old, of Scarsdale, N. Y., was killed in the crash last night of his F-86D jet plane in a pine thicket a mile south of Moody Air Force Base.

The accident occurred seconds after Lieutenant Burleigh, a student pilot, took off on a night radar interceptor mission.

Special to The New York Times:

SCARSDALE, Sept. 21—Lieutenant Burleigh was the father of two infant daughters, Deborah, 1 year old, and Tara, a few weeks old. His wife, Mrs. Anne Pleuthener Burleigh, and the children lived near the base with him.

The officer was a graduate of Scarsdale High School and Colgate University, where he had been a member of the Air Reserve Officers Training Corps.

His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson Burleigh, live at the Cragswold Apartments on Garth Road near here. Mr. Burleigh is a sales analyst for the Bristol-Meyers Company.

Merck Selects Vannevar Bush As Chairman, Names a Director

George W. Perkins

The election of Dr. Vannevar Bush as chairman of Merck & Co., Inc., pharmaceuticals manufacturer, was announced yesterday by John T. Connor, president, who continues as chief executive officer. The election of George W. Perkins as a director also was announced.

Dr. Bush succeeds the late George W. Merck. He has been a director of Merck since 1949 and is also a member of the executive committee. Dr. Bush is also chairman of the Corporation of the Massachusetts Institute and was director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development during World War II. Dr. Bush is also a director of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Mr. Perkins rejoins the Merck board after an absence of nine years during which he was with the Federal Government. He was executive vice president and a director of Merck from 1927 to 1948, when he joined the Economic Cooperation Administration. He later served as Assistant Secretary of State for European Affairs and most recently as United States representative on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council with the rank of Ambassador. He left the later post in September.

Quigley Played On '17 Undefeated Williams' College Football Team

Bellefonte's Burgess Hugh M. Quigley has received a number of urgent invitations to attend the 40th reunion of William's College's only undefeated football team, which will be held Saturday, at Williamstown, Mass.

Burgess Quigley played the left guard on the 1917 team, which defeated such teams as RPI Union, Cornell, Amherst, Middlebury, Hamilton, Tufts and others, to become the only undefeated team in the history of that college, and that record still stands.

The only thing that may keep Mr. Quigley from attending the reunion will be the condition of his health. He is just recovering from a severe attack of flu.

On the card announcing the reunion the team manager pointed out that a lot of activities have been arranged in the team's honor, but that each member would have to "bring your own crutches."

The Burgess replied to the original notice saying that he couldn't be there. But several days later there arrived another message from the Manager listing members of the team who would attend and urging him to reconsider. Two days later Mr. Quigley received a telephone call from his old coach, Fred Walker, of Chicago, who is now 73, who really went all out for the reunion by calling members of the team in Texas, Oregon, Minnesota, and elsewhere. The following day a letter arrived from Coach Walker announcing a 100 percent attendance of all but deceased members and those whose addresses were unknown.

And just in case all those communications might need a clincher, Mr. Quigley's roommate and a half-back on the 1917 team, Homer Collins, of Duluth, Minn., called him on Sunday to say that he and another teammate from St. Paul would fly to Albany, N.Y., Friday, where they want the Burgess to meet them and drive the remaining 50 miles to Williamstown by car.

With all these invitations and commands still ringing in his ears, if Mr. Quigley isn't able to make the trip to Williamstown this weekend, he will undoubtedly be there in spirit, cheering the 1957 Williams' team on to victory against Bowdoin, Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Farrand Dies; Widow of Cornell Ex-Head

Special to the Herald Tribune

NORWALK, Conn., Oct. 11.

— Mrs. Margaret Farrand, eighty-one, widow of Dr. Livingston Farrand, who was president emeritus of Cornell University and former president of the University of Colorado, died yesterday after a heart attack at home at 79 East Avenue.

A native of Philadelphia, Mrs. Farrand lived for many years in Washington before moving to Norwalk several years ago.

A colorful campus personality, Mrs. Farrand was known to generations of students at Cornell and Colorado as "Daisy." She was a distinguished amateur gardener and the author of several articles on gardening. She held one of the highest honors to be given an amateur horticulturist, the title of member-at-large of the Garden Clubs of America.

Mrs. Farrand was one of the organizers of the Ithaca Garden Club, founded twenty-five years ago, and was scheduled to address that organization next Tuesday. She was also a member of the Cosmopolitan Club.

Dr. Farrand was president of Cornell from 1921 to 1937 and was a past president of the National Red Cross.

Surviving are two sons, John R. and Robert K. Farrand, and three daughters, Mrs. Charles Conard, Mrs. William A. Wood and Mrs. Farrand Hall.

CAMP DRUM HOLDS A REVIEW FOR TWO

77th Fetes Retiring Generals,
Tuckerman and Barth —
Troops Return Tomorrow

Special to The New York Times.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., July 4

— More than 2,000 men of the Seventy-seventh Infantry Division of the Army Reserve staged a review this morning at near-by Camp Drum in honor of two major generals who will retire soon.

The Statue of Liberty division paraded for Maj. Gen. Alfred G. Tuckerman of New York City, its commanding officer, and Maj. Gen. George B. Barth, Camp Drum's commandant during the summer training season.

In a brief speech General Tuckerman thanked the men for their cooperation during the training period and said that this had been the best summer he had ever experienced at the camp.

During the review three planes of the Seventy-seventh Division trailed red, white and blue smoke near the reviewing stand in honor of the generals and in observance of Independence Day.

Aircraft Demonstrated

The Fourth of July program opened with a show by Army aircraft at Wheeler-Sack Airfield. The capabilities of various types of planes were shown under the direction of Capt. Alvin M. Quint. Prior to the Seventy-seventh Division's review, weapons in use at the camp were demonstrated to the public. The new recreation center was opened.

The Seventy-seventh Division is completing two weeks of training and maneuvers. A variety of exercises have kept the New York City outfit busy.

Operation Black River, under the command of General Tuckerman and Brig. Gen. John W. Kaine of East Williston, L. I., assistant commander of the division, was a major exercise of the Seventy-seventh.

A crossing of the river was executed by the infantrymen at dawn on Wednesday. A 460-foot pontoon bridge was constructed across the Black River in fourteen and a half minutes. The Reservists "fought" their way across the river and then secured points on the opposite shore.

Artillery at Oswego

Units participating in this operation were the First Battalion of the 305th Infantry Regiment, commanded by Maj. Thomas L. O'Syer of Queens; 302d Engineer Battalion, commanded by Lieut. Col. Francis J. Lasar of Floral Park, L. I., and the 300th Medical Battalion, led by Lieut. Col. Alexander Zabin of Malvern. A light aviation section under the command of Maj. Joseph Kilkenney of Wantagh, L. I., took part, using liaison planes and helicopters.

During part of the training period the Seventy-seventh Artillery has been at the Oswego firing range on Lake Ontario for practice. Other division units fired small arms on the camp's ranges.

An artillery demonstration at the camp earlier this week brought 105 millimeter howitzers, 155 millimeter rifles and mortars into action. Units under the direction of Brig. Gen. Richard T. Henshaw Jr. participated in night firing with the use of parachute flares.

A group of teen-age trainees was exposed for the first time to tear gas during a chemical warfare and gas mask drill.

Return on Saturday

Tomorrow members of the Seventy-seventh will hold clean-up day. Saturday at 11 A. M. most of the infantrymen will board trains at Camp Drum. That evening they will be back in the metropolitan area. Some of the men will make the journey home in private automobiles.

Members of the Twenty-seventh Armored Division of the National Guard, from New York City and many upstate communities, will also return to their homes Saturday after two weeks at the camp.

Incoming troops this week will include the Forty-second Infantry Division of the guard, with headquarters in New York City, numbering 8,300 men; the Second Corps Artillery, also from New York, with 2,850 members and the 98th Infantry Division with 3,578 men, from the western part of the state.

Mrs. Fisk Marsh Married Here to Thomas A. Halleran

6/15/57
Mrs. Gwendolyn Fisk Marsh, of New York, and Mr. Thomas A. Halleran, also of New York, were married yesterday in the chambers of Presiding Justice David W. Peck of the Appellate Division, Supreme Court, Justice Peck officiating.

Mrs. Halleran, formerly of Westport, Conn., is the daughter of the late Eleanor Hepburn Fisk and the late Pliny Fisk, of New York. Her marriage to Mr. Allyn J. Marsh, of New York, was ended by divorce in 1952.

Mr. Halleran is the son of Mrs. Thomas A. Halleran, of New York, and the late Mr. Halleran, of Flushing, Queens. He is a member of the New York law firm of Cravath, Swaine & Moore. His marriage to the former Carmelita Rathbone, of New York, was terminating by divorce.

Charles C. Nott Dies, Judge at Famous Trials

Charles C. Nott, eighty-seven, General Sessions Judge in New York from 191 to 1939, died yesterday in St. Luke's Hospital after a long illness. He resided at 137 E. 66th St.

Judge Nott presided over many of the city's most spectacular trials, including the 1929 Rothstein murder trial and the conviction of Tammany leader James J. Hines as the political protector of the city's policy rackets in 1935.

Doomed 14 Killers

In 1938, he sentenced fourteen men to the electric chair, five at one time, in the killing of policemen during armed robberies.

Judge Nott on his retirement in 1939 said he felt no particular emotion in sentencing a prisoner to death, since in such cases the judge was merely "a rubber stamp" for the law.

Stern in the imposition of sentences, especially in armed-robbery convictions, Judge Nott in 1925 suggested the most effective deterrent to armed robberies would be a law permitting flogging in such cases. He admitted that "sentimentalists" would be appalled by such a law.

Emotional Reaction

"The idea of twenty or thirty men shot down in cold blood and others wounded does not affect such people, but the idea of twenty lashes on one man would send them into fits," he said.

In the Rothstein murder trial, he directed the jury to acquit George A. McManus for the murder of gambler Arnold Rothstein after recalcitrant witnesses prevented the prosecution from proving its case.

In 1936, he presided over the trial of Joseph Fiorenza and sentenced him to the electric chair in the murder of Mrs. Nancy Titterton, the author.

Before becoming a judge in 1913, Mr. Nott was for twelve years assistant district attorney in New York.

He was born in Williamstown, Mass., the son of Charles C. Nott, for forty years a judge and chief justice of the United States Court of Claims. His grandfather on the maternal side was Mark Hopkins, former president of Williams College, from which he himself was graduated in 1890. His great-grandfather, Eliphalet Nott, was president of Union College.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Mitchell Nott; a son, Lawrence H. Nott, and a daughter, Mrs. James Hemingway.

KERRIN ROSS WED TO P. C. MONAHAN

Grace Church in Brooklyn Heights Scene of Marriage
—Bride's Uncle Officiates

Grace Protestant Episcopal Church, Brooklyn Heights, was the scene yesterday afternoon of the marriage of Miss Kerrin Ross to Philip C. Monahan.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ross of Brooklyn Heights. Her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Monahan of Burlingame, Calif.

The Rev. Canon C. Rankin Barnes, uncle of the bride and secretary of the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church, performed the ceremony. He was assisted by the Rev. David T. Atwater, rector of the church. A reception was given in the Towers.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of white taffeta, fashioned with an Empire waistline outlined in seed pearls, and a full skirt terminating in a chapel-length train. Her veil of Chantilly lace was fastened to a cap of matching lace embellished with pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses, freesia and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor was the bride's cousin, Miss Alice H. Eberman. The other attendants were the Misses Julie C. Bres, Eileen E. Coughlin, Mrs. Herman C. A. Hinsch, Elizabeth E. Frost, Dianne C. Meeker and Mary Stephanie Magee.

Donald Ross Jr., brother of the bride, was best man. The ushers were Kevin J. Monahan, the bridegroom's brother; Thomas V. A. Kelsey, N. Clark Moran, James B. Laughlin, Frederick E. Rieger Jr. and Edward M. Fuller.

Mrs. Monahan, an alumna of the Packer Collegiate Institute, studied also at Vassar College. She made her debut in 1954 at the Yuletide Ball in Brooklyn Heights.

Her husband graduated from Stanford University. He is a lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve. Mr. Monahan is with the New York insurance brokerage firm of Marsh & McLennan, Inc.

Wound Is Fatal To Robert Wood At Big Horn Home

Robert M. Wood, 50, prominent Big Horn rancher and oil operator died early this morning at his home from what authorities termed a self-inflicted bullet wound.

The incident occurred about 1:30 a. m. at the ranch home. Friends of Mr. Wood said he had been in ill health for some time and had become despondent.

He was born Aug. 4, 1906, in Huntington, Long Island, N. Y. He was graduated from Taft school at Watertown, Conn., in 1925 and received his bachelor of arts degree from Princeton university in 1929. He later attended the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City.

Since 1930, Mr. Wood had operated a ranch at Big Horn, but also had had extensive oil interests since 1942. He was vice president of Oil Inc., of Salt Lake City.

He was a past vice president of the board of trustees of Fountain Valley School in Colorado Springs, Colo., a member of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus of Sheridan, the Sheridan Elks lodge, the Dallas Petroleum club of Dallas, Tex., the Denver Club of Denver, and was a member Holy Name church of Sheridan.

He is survived by his wife and four children, John Stilwell Wood of Lake Charles, La., Robert Matheson Wood, jr., United States Navy; Willis A. Wood, 12, of Big Horn, and a daughter, Carolyn, 15, who attends the Madira school in Virginia; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis E. Wood of Huntington, Long Island, and one sister, Mrs. William Preston, Lincoln, Mass. One sister preceded him in death.

Funeral arrangements, under the direction of Champion's, are incomplete.
